To the Citizens of Oregon!

A. H. FRANCIS,

FOR many years a Merchant in Portland, has opened a Commission House in Victoria, V I, for the sale of all kinds of flour, grain, bacon, butter, eggs, apples, &c., &c All those having such articles to dispose of and are desirous of turning them speedily into cash, at fair prices, will be accommodated by shipping to A H F, Victoria, V. I. My well known reputation as a merchant in Portland and my acquaintances and large trade in Victoria since 1859, will, I venture to say, be sufficient guarantee that every attention to quick and safe sales, and prompt remittances, subject to the order of the consignees, will be strictly adhered to My business shall be strictly CASH. I would recommend shippers to ship the best quality of articles.

The New Ulm Horror

The St Paul P[illegible] publishes the following communication from Mr James E Thompson Postmaster at Mankato giving full particulars of the terrible tragedy at New Ulm Minnesota par ticulars of which have already appeared

It seems that on Christmas day two of our citizens returning from [illegible] Brown county arrived at New Ulm at about [illegible] P M and stopped at a saloon and while in the saloon [illegible] some dispute arose and one of them was forcibly put out the [illegible] of the house (this is the report the citizens give) There were a number of them and cuts [illegible] the door It is not known what means were used to put him out or what was being done to him after he was out but the other one tried to get to him was seized by one Spinner, and in the melee Spinner was fatally stabbed in the thigh These men were then arrested by the Sheriff one with his head cut open with a hatchet that his brains ran out his eyes out and his [illegible] and a cut [illegible] in the neck The other also had a cut in the head In this condition they were taken to the jail and stripped even to their clothes by the Sheriff under the [illegible] of searching them to see if they had any dangerous weapons (Who ever heard of searching a dying man in such a manner) The Sheriff says that he [illegible] not have been half an hour While in this naked condition the Sheriff says the prison doors were burst open by the mob and in spite of all the efforts of the officers, the prisoners were taken, and one of them dragged out The marks are still on the floor as plain as though a stuck hog had been dragged over the floor and half a capful of brains lay on the floor where they had run from the cut received at the saloon

In this dying condition he was dragged out, and there in broad daylight hung to the grates of the jail The other was brought out and driven around the jail, beaten with clubs (the clubs still remain covered and smeared with his blood to testify for themselves) He was stabbed and the men who stabbed him came back to the hotel and openly washed the blood from their hands Finally he was also hanged, and there left by the mob

The Sheriff says that the bodies lay on the ground at the back of the jail at ten that night, that he saw them there that he left them there, that no coroner's inquest was held or attempted to be held, and that in the morning the bodies were gone and that is all he knows about it A more fiendish outrage was never committed by any body of Indians The men were both well known and respected by all who knew them here They are well known to many of your readers in St Paul for they were both members of Company H Second Regiment Minnesota Infantry Their names are George Liscomb and Alexander Campbell

A diligent search was made by the party from Mankato for the bodies but without success, until about noon to day, when a place near the town on the river was found where a hole had lately been cut in the ice There was much blood on the ice, and other signs indicated all too plainly that the bodies had been put in the river and we returned home sick at heart, all our human nature revolting at the sights we had seen

A subsequent dispatch says

The bodies of two men, who were butchered at New Ulm were found under the ice in Minnesota river most barbarously mutilated Campbell had fifteen wounds, eight of which were fatal, and his right hand was cut off at the wrist, and his right leg at the knee Liscomb had eighteen wounds nine of which were fatal An inquest is now being held at Mankato and prominent citizens of New Ulm are implicated

THE BABY ACT —The silliest thing that the members of the late Legislature did was to plead ignorance of the law of Congress requiring them to take the oath of allegiance before entering upon the discharge of their duties Legislators pleading the baby act ignorance of the law! But how stands the case? They did know what the law was or most of them did In the Council it was discussed, also in the House; and it was pronounced unconstitutional, and all that "They wouldn't take it for money," oh no! Incorruptible, they They stood on principle' Presto, change! 'If they had only a knowed it was required they wouldn't hesitate to have taken the proper oath'' But Secretary Howlett placed the necessary and proper blanks before them They disregarded the "detested oath" and ordered others printed 'They would n't swear for money' Presto, change! Three or four hundred dollars in greenbacks fetched 'em, though Alas for the integrity of democracy —Idaho Statesman

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT —The following is an account of a terrible accident that happened at Washingtonville Orange county, N. Y , recently

A Mrs Millard went into a mill to see her husband, when her clothing caught in some machinery and she was dragged into the works and one of her legs severed from her body Her husband hearing her cries rushed to her assistance, and in attempting to extricate her, got his arm caught in the machinery, where it was horribly crushed, leaving it attached to his shoulder by a small piece of flesh only Using his other hand, Mr Millard drew his knife from his pocket and opening the blade with his teeth, cut the remaining piece of flesh that held his injured arm, and after thus freeing himself raised his wife on his arm and carried her down stairs, when both fell exhausted Medical aid was summoned and they were properly taken care of Both are in a critical condition, and it is thought Mrs Millard will die

THE ASSASSINATION PERJURY CASE —Judge Fisher of the Washington Criminal Court, on December 18th gave his opinion on the demurrer in the case of Sanford Conover, indicted for perjury respecting the assassination of President Lincoln The Judge overruled the demurrer, giving his reasons in an elaborate opinion, in which he discussed the powers of Congress in taking the testimony of witnesses and paid a high compliment to Judge Advocate General Holt whose character had been assailed because of his official action in relation to this case The counsel for the prisoner took exceptions to the ruling of the Court and prayed an appeal to the court in General Term which was granted If that court sustain Judge Fisher as is probable, Conover will doubtless be brought to trial at the next ensuing term of the Criminal Court of this District Conover was remanded to jail

The Toledo Commercial corrects certain statements in the Columbus Journal about Artemus Ward 'It was over ten years ago that Mr Brown became the local editor of this paper (being his first experience as a writer for the public) and continued as such for some years when he assumed a similar position on the Cleveland Plaindealer and afterwards wrote for the Vanity Fair, since which time he has been engaged exclusively in traveling and lecturing It is a fact that Mr Brown was at one time a 'jour printer,' and probably a 'strapped' one He was a compositor on the Commercial before becoming its local editor and it was while thus employed that he began to develop the peculiar talent as a writer which afterward gave him a national and has now given him a world wide reputation '

DUEL BETWEEN AUSTRIAN GENERALS —From Vienna we learn that on the 13th instant, a duel took place between Marshal Benedek and Count Clam Gallas, at a small town near Prague

Count Clam Gallas received two sabre cuts, one on the head and the other on the arm His second was M de Crenneville first aid de camp of the Emperor Francis Joseph [illegible] the brother in law of Clam Gallas, M Mensdorf P[illegible], was the second of the Field Marshal M Mensdorf was opposed to the choice of pistols, because General Clam Gallas is notoriously a good shot This [illegible] with the rank of the seconds, proves that there was rather a desire to satisfy a point of honor than a thirst for vengeance This is the last blow [illegible] on account of the late war —Journal les [illegible]

LAST TO REMEMBER —The length of the Atlantic cable from the point where it leaves Valentia Island to the spot where it landed at Heart's Content, is precisely 1866 miles It is a singular coincidence that its length should exactly conform to the date of the year of its completion

The feast of imagination is described as follows "When your stomach is empty, and your pocket ditto, sit down and read a cookery book"

The Honor of the South

Mathematics can calculate the distance to every planet and fixed star in the regions of space and can give the size and weight of all, but brains and figures are too few and feeble to take the dimensions of Southern honor Honor, was that intangible and indefinable something which had been shocked invaded and outraged by the North, and it had to be vindicated at any cost in 1860 And not only had their honor been outraged but by some mysterious action of the North they had been robbed of a large share of it It became necessary, therefore to go after what they had lost and to vindicate what remained by the sword And so, they solemnly pledged that sacred relic, throwing it into the pot with the bayonet, bullet, property and life which was risked by the contest It was generally supposed for some time that the North won the fight the pot and all its contents that all the South had left was the last ditch yet empty But it was found, in a very short time that the conquered region had a prodigious amount of honor which was altogether the most tangible thing they possessed And when W[illegible] and Andrew began to exhale their reconstruction gas every rebel became instantly hugely inflated with innumerable quantities of honor It required a terrible collapse of this to make them yield up their secession ordinances, rebel debts slaves and slave codes, their leaders, to punishment, they never could or would give up, nor were they pressed on this point Just now, the Constitutional Amendment on its march South finds an 'Ossa upon Pelion' of honor in its way, 'Alps on Alps arise,' Himalaya is piled on Himmalch and the very heavens are pierced by the toploftical soaring of Southern honor And this sky filling gas stuffed balloon, pricked with the spear of truth, collapses into a cat o' nine tails for Cuffee's back, and tar and feathers for an Abolitionist

General Beauregard utters the last pronunciamento, "Both the interest and the manhood of the South should forbid the acceptance of the Constitutional Amendment The South is at the mercy of the North, but should never do anything which its honor could not approve" Southern honor could very easily approve the violation of solemn oaths; the taking of other people's property and lives the hunting of prisoners with blood hounds, the starvation, brutalities, outrages and atrocities of various prison pens, the firing of cities by bands of ruffians, the putting torpedoes in coal bunks, the sending of infected clothing among women and children, and it is not at all certain that the highest officer of the Confederacy did not put the sanction of the Government upon wholesale assassination If there is any crime that Southern honor has not sanctioned and committed, we have never heard its name But it can never consent to allow lovers of liberty of any color a voice in the Government of which they are a part Their honor demands unbridled license for all their passions, the privilege of robbery and murder, and yet more revolting crimes at their own sweet will What do we hear from Texas to day, "That the lash is more cruelly administered than it ever was, and freedmen who have cultivated land and have raised crops have had all taken from them Outrages from cold blooded murders down have occurred, and there is no one to whom they can appeal for redress" Southern honor! Let it never be mentioned but in derision' Let it wear the 'scarlet letter," and the brand of Cain, till it can learn the first principles of decency and justice —Sacramento Bee

HANDSOME TRIBUTE TO THAD STEVENS —Although Thaddeus Stevens has not been elected United States Senator from Pennsylvania, much to the disappointment of many who would have been glad to have seen him in that body, all will read with interest the following tribute to his character by J. W Forney, on withdrawing from the contest

WASHINGTON, D C , Dec 13, 1866.

MY DEAR SIR: Since I wrote you yesterday, I have carefully considered the several suggestions I ventured to make in regard to the election of a Senator to Congress from Pennsylvania for six years from the 4th of March, 1867 and every moment's additional reflection strengthens my conviction that it is the duty of every sincere member of the great Republican Union party to sink all personal aspirations for the purpose of obtaining the services of a statesman who will most faithfully and fearlessly defend the Radical principles which, after the most thorough political canvass in our history, gave us so commanding a victory in this State on the 9th of October last With no disposition to underrate others, I am free to say that I think the election of the Hon Thaddeus Stevens, as the successor of Mr Cowan, would promote lasting harmony in our political household, and would unquestionably secure to the State and the nation a champion of those great principles of matchless experience, integrity and courage.

This remarkable man, notwithstanding his great age constantly exhibits all the intellectual vigor of his prime, and while we are daily admonished of the wisdom and the justice of the remedies he suggested nearly two years ago, we are constrained to admit that if they had been adopted many of the deplorable results of Presidential perfidy would not now be dishonoring and disturbing the land It is the simple truth to add that the sentiments and suggestions of Thaddeus Stevens triumphed more completely in Pennsylvania in the recent election and contributed more powerfully to that triumph than the sentiments and suggestions of any living American The great Republican Union organization, including as it does hundreds of thousands of his former political opponents frankly accepts and gratefully acknowledges him as its most conspicuous leader If we in Pennsylvania elevate him to the position of Senator we simply respond to the general desire of our political friends in other States and in doing this I believe we would do what any one of them would do for such a man within their own borders Would it would not be a happy termination to an illustrious life—never so illustrious as during the overthrow of that dangerous institution, which more than a century ago Thaddeus Stevens was among the first and boldest to oppose—if Pennsylvania through her Union Republican Legislature voluntarily tendered to him the only high office she has in her immediate gift Impressed by these considerations I feel that I am discharging a simple duty in asking you to withdraw my name should it be presented in the Union cause as a candidate for United States Senator.

Thanking you most cordially for the expression of your willingness to give me your vote for that high office, I remain,

Very truly your grateful friend
J W FORNEY

HON WILMER WORTHINGTON, West Chester, Pennsylvania

A rich old dotard of seventy five, living near Springfield Illinois determined not long ago to marry a trim young farmer's daughter His son Frank opposed the idea, and went to work to prevent the match With great ostentation he purchased a coffin and a horrid looking meat ax, and had them arranged in state at his father's house Reversing the order of things he declared the wedding baked meats should coldly furnish forth a funeral that Fanny, instead of a bride should be a corpse, that his father might have a funeral but not a wedding that standing there at the threshold of his paternal mansion he would with that same sharpened meat ax, cleave her from crown to sole, that the coffin prepared was for her decent burial and finally that he was ready himself for the murderer's gibbet The marriage was indefinitely postponed

THE MISSISSIPPI RAPIDS —It is in contemplation to construct a canal around the Mississippi rapids and to this end the Merchant's Exchange of St Louis has adopted resolutions calling upon all citizens of States bordering on the Mississippi river to meet in Convention in that city during the present month [illegible] such action in the premises as the importance of the subject demands It is intimated that the project will be early presented to the attention of Congress

A telegram, dated Washington, December 20th, says Lewis H Weichman, who it will be remembered, was one of the principal witnesses for the Government in the case of Payne Atzerot, Harrold, Mrs Surratt and others of the assassination conspirators, was before the Grand jury on that day, to give his testimony as to the complicity of John H Surratt in the murder of President Lincoln

DISTRESS IN WOOLEN —Distress in woolen, in winter appeals less forcibly to our tender sympathies, than distress in nakedness and starvation still the distress which over production has brought upon the woolen interest is deserving of commiseration, and ought to be faithfully improved by the sufferers in tracing their calamities to the proper cause

It is plain that the reason why the market is overstocked with woolen goods is, that there have been too many woolen goods made, the reason why there have been too many goods made is, that there are too many people making them The reason why so many goods cannot be sold is that the cost of subsistence is so high, especially the products of agriculture The reason why the products of agriculture are so scarce and dear is because so many people and so much enterprise and capital have been withdrawn from agricultural pursuits to engage in manufactures The reason for such a wholesale desertion of agriculture is that people have been falsely educated into the belief that a protective tariff as exorbitant as that we now live under could overrule the laws of trade and control the market

Now when their hope has failed they come to Congress for more tariff, when they ought to have learned that the Government can no more give them a steady market than it can give to the ferry boats on East river a uniform highth of tide

If it were not for the effects of the tariff, in making subsistence costly and prices high, the woolen manufacturers would not be in distress, because if they had manufactured cheaply, they would be able to sell their goods abroad as well as at home—would not be confined to a single market, but have all the world open to them But by their own folly they have shut the markets of the world against them, and now cry out for help, because they had not the wisdom to so manage as not to overstock our own limited market

The woolen manufacturers now demand cheap wool That is to say, they would like free trade in wool, but protection for wool manufacturers —That is carrying water on both shoulders with a vengeance They talk about the necessity of making the raw material cheap , very good—but why do they forget that their clothes are the raw material of the tailors?—N Y Post

DR HOLMES'S NEW NOVEL —The Guardian Angel, opens in the January Atlantic with a brilliant display of his delicate fancy, his subtile philosophy, his rare wit, and his impressive suggestiveness. Portions of the first chapters are just delicious This probably contains the keynote to the story

"It is by no means certain that our individual personality is the single inhabitant of these our corporeal frames. Nay, there is recorded an experience of one of the living persons mentioned in this narrative—to be given in full in its proper place—which, so far as it is received in evidence, tends to show that some, at least, who have long been dead, may enjoy a kind of secondary and imperfect, yet self-conscious life, in these bodily tenements which we are in the habit of considering exclusively our own There are many circumstances, familiar to common observers, which favor this belief to a certain extent. Thus, at one moment we detect the look, at another the tone of voice or another some characteristic movement of this or that ancestor, in our relations or others There are times when our friends do not act like themselves, but apparently in obedience to some other law than that of their own proper nature We all do things both awake and asleep which surprise us Perhaps we have cotenants in this house we live in. No less than eight distinct personalities are said to have coexisted in a single female mentioned by an ancient physician of unimpeachable authority. In this light we may, perhaps see, the meaning of a sentence, from a work which will be repeatedly referred to in this narrative, viz 'This body in which we journey across the isthmus between the two oceans is not a private carriage, but an omnibus.'"

THE SUEZ CANAL —A letter from Malta says: The works of the Suez Canal are being very actively carried forward by M de Lesseps, who at present however, is not in Egypt. An average depth of seven to nine feet has been obtained between Port Said, along the Salt Water Canal, and the rest of the distance to Suez is traversed temporarily by a fresh water canal about seven feet deep, connected with the other by means of locks and powerful pumps As far as sixty stations the full width of the proposed ship canal has been excavated of 60 metres. From that point to 70 station, at Ismalia, the width is incomplete All that has been done has been done well, and reflects much credit on the science, skill and persevering energy of the French engineers The real difficulties of dredging in a constantly dissolving sand are now commencing, but well informed persons entertain but little doubt that these and all others may be overcome by time and money. As to what amount of these important necessaries will be required to bring the great work to a successful completion, it is scarcely possible at present to hazard a conjecture

BANYAN TREES —These trees are common all over the East Indies, and to such a size do they grow that one tree forms a miniature forest in itself The largest banyan tree is said to be on the banks of the Merbudah river Forbes, in his "Oriental Memoirs," says that the circumference of the tree at the time of writing the account was nearly 2,000 feet, and the overhanging branches which had not thrown down their proper supports stretched over a much larger area The tree has as many as 320 main trunks, and over 3 000 smaller ones, and was capable of giving shelter to 7 000 men These dimensions are almost fabulous, there is, however, another fine tree at Mhow which has 68 stout stems, and can give shade, even under a vertical sun, to an immense number of men , indeed, we are constantly told that a regiment of cavalry can conveniently take refuge beneath one For large assemblies or meetings they form perfect natural tents

HOW TO BE REVENGED —The New York Herald tells the South how it can be revenged on the Yankees

We advise our Southern cotemporaries to give up their silly notions about the North They said the grass would grow in the streets of New York for want of business when they started the rebellion They see now how absurd their views were. Let them learn from the past to be wiser in the future If they will be revenged upon the Yankees we can tell them how to do it They have richer and more varied resources than the North, and if they will follow the example of the Yankees and go to work in cultivating their lands, opening their mines and establishing manufactories every where they will be able to outsell the North and the rest of the world in almost all the productions of the soil and labor That is the way to be revenged, and we shall take such revenge in good part We hope they may have the good sense to drop their nonsensical and useless hostility and political quibbles and take our advice

ORDERED TO APPEAR.—Our readers will remember that Captain Graves, U S A , was indicted by the Grand Jury some time ago for malicious trespass for this that he destroyed by order of his superior officer some fences erected by a Mr Higgins upon the disputed Territory of San Juan Island and afterwards expelled the said Higgins from the island An order was issued this week requiring Captain Graves to appear for trial at the next term of the District Court at Port Townsend which convenes next month and also authorizing him to employ Hon Frank Clark as his counsel —Vancouver Register

EMERY —So far as is known there are but two mines of emery in the world one at Chester in Hampden county Massachusetts and the other in the classic island of Naxos in the Egean Sea The latter has been controlled by an English house and they have always charged their own prices Some time ago, the Chester Iron Company's property was found to contain emery, which was examined and reported on favorably

The French iron clad frigate La Gloire which figured at the great international meeting of the French and English fleets last year, has been put out of commission and now lies a hulk at Toulon, under the jurisdiction of the maritime prefect Like many of her English competitors it is said she has been found wanting The new frigate La Savoie replaces La Gloire in the squadron of evolutions

A New Era of Courtly Ceremonies

President Johnson has lately been holding a great number of levees tendering public receptions, and making the White House the scene of other ceremonies of an ostentatious and imposing character. We wonder why the disciples of Jefferson, as they behold these evidences of the monarchical tendency of the times, do not raise the alarm. Have they forgotten the warnings of the "sage of Monticello" on this most important subject? If they would comprehend the whole danger that threatens the Republic from the ceremonies now so often witnessed at the Executive mansion, let them turn to the writings of the "great apostle of liberty" and read how he slandered, abused and vilified the Administration of Washington, because during its whole continuance, public receptions like those now given by President Johnson were frequent at the Capital, and how he predicted that these kingly ceremonies would soon lead to the establishment of a monarchical system of government and the utter annihilation of popular liberty. As the danger now is as great as it was then, as the same ceremonies are still continued which were then in vogue, it seems sufficiently surprising that no disciple of Jefferson can be found to give the alarm. A Democratic President, too, pursuing the very course which Jefferson deprecated, and from which he anticipated such direful results! Truly we have fallen on evil times.

The great "Democratic Republican" leader tells us this story, which we would advise his degenerate followers to ponder well: "When, on my return from Europe, I joined the Government in March, 1790 at New York, I was very much astonished, indeed, at the mimicry I found established, of royal forms and ceremonies, and more alarmed at the unexpected phenomenon, by the monarchical sentiments, I heard expressed and openly maintained in every company." Now we ask the disciples of this eminent man to look at things as they now exist at the National Capital, to behold the public receptions, the court mimicry, and other "royal forms and ceremonies" of the same nature with those which so "alarmed" Jefferson, and tell the country if there is no danger,—if popular liberty is not in the greatest peril?

From first to last Jefferson assailed Washington's Administration because of its "aristocratical" character and its tendency toward monarchism. This "Democratic Republican," struggling to build up a party, could not countenance the levees, the receptions, the birth night balls given by Washington, and actually made opposition to these trivial matters a principal measure of his party. He pretended to regard them with the greatest apprehension, and has left on record his solemn warning against the practice of such ceremonies. But though a professed follower of his now sits in the seat of Washington, this advice is not heeded. "Where are we drifting?" Cannot Democrats see that the tendency of the times is toward a monarchy? Their "great apostle," though dead, yet speaketh; and is there none among his followers to echo his voice, and to proclaim to the country the danger that threaten?

Communication with the Country.

For the past few years the wealth and enterprise of Portland have been almost wholly devoted to improving the town. The only exception to this remark is the improvement of the communication up the Columbia and the development of the iron beds at Oswego. Ought not the enterprise of the city to take other directions also? In growth and development we are in danger of getting too far from our base—the country. The lines of communication with the surrounding country, and particularly with the rich and productive portions of the Willamette Valley, are the arteries which sustain the life and build up the prosperity of the city. The city cannot outgrow the country, and that prosperity is evanescent which is founded upon such a condition of things. For the next few years all our surplus capital and energy ought to be devoted to the improvement of of the facilities for communication with the best portions of the country. The system of neighborhood roads, supported by neighborhood labor is altogether inadequate to accomplish the objects needed. Companies ought to be formed under the general incorporation law to build good McAdam roads in the direction of Yamhill county, the Tualatin Plains and the country east of the river. A good road can be constructed to Dayton within a distance of forty miles, at a cost of $5,000 per mile, and perhaps less. To the western boundary of Washington county, a road can be built at a less figure. These two roads, when once constructed, would instantly more than double the commerce between those sections and Portland. During the long winter months the farmers have plenty of time to haul their produce to Portland but the roads are impassable and it cannot be done. With a good road to the Plains, a team of two horses could haul a load of 2,000 pounds to this place in a day, all through the winter months. The same could be done from Dayton in a day and a half, easily. The saving of time, wear and tear of horses, harness and wagon, would more than compensate for the toll necessary to keep the road in good repair, and pay a profit to the stockholders.

We throw out these suggestions in the hope that the people interested in the prosperity and business of Portland, will consider the subject. It is a matter of inestimable importance to the city as well as to the country. Once get the enterprise started and its feasibility and utility will be apparent to all. The farmers and landholders along these roads can be induced to take stock, but it must begin here and in good earnest. Why not build a road to Tualatin Plains next summer? We suppose there are at least one hundred farmers and landholders along the route in Washington county who would take $200 each of stock in such an enterprise. If they never received a cent of dividends upon the investment, they could not expend their money more wisely.

In a Sorry Condition.—A letter from a person connected with Capt McKay's company of scouts on Crooked river, gives information that the hostile Indians in that region are reduced to extremities. The writer expresses the opinion that many of them must starve. McKay's scouts hold the valleys, and the Indians dare not descend from the mountains to obtain game or other food. On the mountains the snow is very deep, and it is impossible for the Indians to find subsistence either for themselves or their horses. It is reported that they have been compelled to eat most of their animals, as this was the only resource left them. The Indian scouts under command of McKay and Darragh, manifest great skill and vigilance in pursuing the hostile bands. The idea of a winter campaign in that region has proven to be the correct one. Much already has been accomplished, and it is believed that by spring the hostile Indians in that locality will be wholly exterminated.

A rally is made in the right quarter to prevent the good old stock of Virginia from running out these hard times. The frequent struggles and protests against such a destiny by that far famed race, are enough to excite general commiseration. The Richmond Times closes an eloquent plea for the true Virginian in the following strain and style.—

A thousand years of war may roll over us, earthquakes may shake down our mountains and swallow up our dry land, floods may dash their wild waves over the places of our abode, but as long as there floats a true friend of the Old Dominion upon a plank of the wreck he will be a Virginian still.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO FEBRUARY 8.

Congressional.

Washington, Feb 7.—In the Senate, Trumbull of Illinois from the Judiciary Committee, reported without amendment the House bill, suspending the operation of the Act of 1864 authorizing the appointment of a Commission to award the $300 compensation to loyal slave owners for slaves enlisted in the volunteer service, and also abolishing the office of the Commissioner appointed under the said act. Trumbull also reported the House Joint Resolution to prevent corporal punishment in the [illegible] with such amendments making it read that it shall be the duty of the officers of the army and navy and Freedmen's Bureau to prohibit and prevent the whipping, maiming, [illegible] as a punishment for any crime [illegible] any State lately in rebellion until the civil government of such State shall have been restored and recognized by Congress.

The Senate then debated the Legislative Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill and took a recess till evening.

The House took up the bill reported yesterday from the reconstruction committee to provide more efficient government for the insurrectionary States, the only point discussed being as to how long the debate should last. Stevens of Pennsylvania said he would move the previous question at one o'clock to-morrow. The debate was continued by Brandegee of Connecticut, Pike of Maine and Farnsworth of Illinois in support of the bill and by Le Blond of Ohio and Fink, of Ohio, in opposition to it.

Cities Feb 8.—The Senate at last evening's session continued the debate on Legislative Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill and adopted an amendment giving fifty thousand dollars to facilitate telegraphic communication with the Pacific.

The pay of the District Judge of California was increased to $5,000, and the District Judges of Oregon and Nevada to each $4,500.

Mr Conness moved that the Secretary of War be directed to cause a survey of the Rocky Mountains and the Sierra Nevada for a new route to the Pacific. Adopted. On motion of Conness $3,000 were appropriated for the collection of statistics of mines and mining.

The Senate yesterday struck out of the appropriation bill $5,000 intended for legal and other necessary assistance in the disposal of private land claims.

The House at the evening session continued debate on the reconstruction bill.

The House yesterday on motion of Mr Bidwell instructed the Committee on Appropriations to inquire into the propriety of reporting for paying the Census Marshals of California $3,400 and for taking eighth census also $10,188 for outstanding war bonds.

New York Feb 8.—A large delegation is at Washington urging the passage of the Pacific Railroad bill.

The delegates of fourteen tribes of Indians from Kansas have agreed with Commissioner Bogy upon the preliminaries of treaties, which will be signed this week.

The Indians have agreed to remove to lands in the Indian country formerly occupied by the Creeks and Seminoles. The lands in Kansas belonging to them, valued at from $1 to $4 per acre, are to be sold, and the proceeds to be invested for their benefit.

The Herald's special says Hillyer has been appointed agent of internal revenue.

Thomas H Chambers piano-forte factory, No 14 East Sixth street was destroyed by fire last night, loss $30,000—insured.

Stevens' Reconstruction Bill.

Washington, Feb 7.—The following is Stevens' reconstruction bill: Whereas, The pretended State Governments in the late so-called Confederate States, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas and Arkansas, were set up without authority from Congress and without the sanction of the people, and whereas, the pretended Governments offered no adequate protection for life or property, and encouraged lawlessness and crime, and whereas, it is necessary that peace and good order shall be enforced in the so-called Confederate States until loyal State Governments can be legally established; therefore be it enacted.

Section 1. That the so-called States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States as hereinafter prescribed. For that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district, North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district, Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district, and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec 2. That it shall be the duty of the General of the army to assign to the command of each district an officer not below the rank of Brig.-General, to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officers to perform their duties and enforce their authority.

Sec 3. It shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in the rights of person and property, to suppress insurrectionary violence, and punish or cause to be punished, all disturbers of the public peace and criminals and to this end he may allow the civil tribunals to take jurisdiction and try offenders, and when in his judgment necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military tribunals for this purpose, anything in the Constitution and laws of the so-called States to the contrary notwithstanding, and all legislative or judicial proceedings or processes to control the proceedings of said military tribunals, and all interference by said pretended State Governments with the exercise of military authority under this act, shall be void and of no effect.

Sec 4. That the courts and judicial officers of the United States shall not issue writs of habeas corpus in behalf of persons in military custody unless some court or officer on duty in the district wherein the person is detained shall endorse upon said petition the statement certifying upon honor that he has knowledge or information as to the causes or circumstances of the alleged detention, that he believes it to be wrongful and further, that he believes the indorsed petition is prepared in good faith in furtherance of justice and not to hinder or delay the punishment of crime. All persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act, shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unnecessary punishment shall be inflicted.

Sec 5. No sentence of any military Commission or tribunal hereby authorized affecting the life or liberty of any person shall be executed until approval by the superior officer in command of the District, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions.

Washington News.

Washington, Feb 7.—Col Hillyer has been nominated for Naval Officer at New York.

The President has signed the bill to punish dealing in counterfeit public securities and currency, also the bill prohibiting the printing of professional cards on notes or currency, also the bill giving power to United States Courts to Habeas Corpus in cases of imprisonment in violation of the Constitution or treaties. This law may not apply to persons held in custody by the military authorities charged with military offenses.

The Ways and Means Committee have agreed to report the Federal tax bill, making a general reduction of about forty million.

New York, Feb 8.—A Tribune special says that in the tax bill to be reported to-day but few articles are on the free list and these few of minor importance. Leather is one. All incomes below one thousand dollars are exempt, all above are taxed uniformly at 5 per cent. The tax on cigars is 2½ per cent. Stringent provisions are adopted for prevention of frauds. The Committee was compelled to abandon the idea of large reductions as it is believed receipts will greatly fall off owing to stagnation of business in the next fiscal year. The reduction, it is estimated, will reach about $25,000,000.

Detective Baker was before the Judiciary Committee yesterday. It is stated on high authority that he testified that he was in possession of a letter written by President Johnson when Military Governor of Tennessee, to Jeff Davis offering to identify himself and Tennessee with the Confederacy on certain terms. Being doubtful of the signature, Baker showed it to the President's private secretary, who positively identified the handwriting.

Gen Sully and Col Parker, the latter of Grant's staff will investigate the Fort Kearney massacre.

The Herald's Washington special says parties are lobbying to get a guarantee from the Government for $30,000,000 Mexican bonds, to be issued by Juarez.

The Times special says that an agent of the Colombian Government and Hiram Barney have had interviews with Secretary McCulloch endeavoring to effect a release of the steamship R. R. Cuyler making explanations which it is believed have convinced the Secretary of the injustice of the seizure. They expect the release of the vessel.

Washington Feb 8.—It is stated in well informed circles at Washington that the President recognizes it as the obligation of his oath to submit to trial of impeachment but that he will resist suspension to the uttermost power of the courts.

The bill granting aid to the Pacific Railroad via Springfield, Missouri and Albuquerque, was introduced in the Senate. It is therefore unaffected by the resolution of the House Committee postponing all bills till next Congress. This bill has little chance in the House.

The tobacconists Convention at Washington, appointed a committee to urge their interests.

In the House Wentworth moved that the Secretary of the Treasury communicate the amount of bonds issued to the Central Pacific Railroad, with the number of miles completed.

Ex-Governor Aiken of South Carolina and Brown of Georgia, arrived yesterday.

Miscellaneous.

New York, Feb 8.—The New York Legislature has passed a joint resolution instructing the delegates in Congress to advocate the act granting national aid to the Northern Pacific Railroad connecting Lake Superior to Puget Sound.

The Times publishes the opinions of the press on the compromise plan of the President and Southerners. The Southern press as partially heard from withhold its assent and allege that it is inconsistent with the honor of the South to make offers. The Democratic press of the North generally maintain a silence. The Union journals are pronounced and positive in its disapproval. The Springfield Republican alone wishes it success. They unitedly regard the Congressional amendment entire as the minimum concession.

The World's special says the Southern Governors are still conferring.

Trade Report.

New York, Feb 7.—The market for dry goods has a more cheerful aspect. Trade is not yet lively, but much better and the prices of all the staples have apparently touched the bottom. The passage of a moderate tariff bill is regarded as assured and this will have a tendency to raise the price of all woolens particularly low grades.

The Board of Trade has adopted a memorial against the tariff bill, which it thinks would diminish the revenue.

New York, Feb 7.—Commodore Swartout died last night at Brooklyn.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

San Francisco, Feb 7.—Judge Cowles in his charge to the grand jury on Tuesday, called attention to the prevalence of gambling in the city and to the strength of rumors generally circulated that the police are in league with the gamesters and wink at the violation of the laws. Since then the daily press has teemed with editorials and communications respecting its suppression in San Francisco. Some allege that under the existing law the police are powerless to effect any abatement of the vice while others insist that the fault lies in the want of [illegible] are exaggerated.

The steamer Active which left Victoria February 2d, arrived here this forenoon.

The Savage Mining Company to-day declared a dividend of $100 per foot. The company carries over a surplus of $45,000 towards extra monthly dividends.

The article published concerning the election of two sets of officers to the Placerville Railroad Company has been explained as follows: The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the road was held according to law at their office on Thursday last for the election of directors but adjourned to the Court Room where it continued in session until five o'clock P. M. A majority of the stockholders had [illegible] attempted to prevent the voting of certain stock which had been on the register since 1865 and in order to accomplish this object they had, without any notice to the company obtained an injunction from Judge Dwinelle restraining the voting of said stock. This injunction they did not attempt to serve until the meeting was organized and a vote was about being cast. The company however had become aware of the issuance of the injunction and had obtained an order from the Judge who granted it, dissolving it which was produced and read as a supersedeas to the injunction. The vote was then cast and resulted in the choice of a Board of Directors headed by George W. Swan. After the stockholders meeting had adjourned the parties who had received the minority of the votes held an independent meeting of their own and went through the form of electing a Board of Directors and officers. The officers elected by the majority of votes will continue to the officers of the company unless properly removed by some Court.

During last night the thermometer fell to 41 and the weather to-day has been cold and windy.

Gold closed in New York last evening, at 137¾. Sterling 108½. A telegram this morning quotes gold at 133. Legal Tenders dull at 73 buying and 73¾ selling.

The most ludicrous thing that has lately transpired is the action of the Democratic Committee of Washington Territory denouncing the legislation of Congress for the Territories as "Congressional interference with our affairs." As an example of the ludicrous, this has not been surpassed since the Democratic Legislature of Arizona, in secession times, proceeded with solemn formality to declare that that Territory, in pursuance of its undeniable right, had dissolved its connection with the Government of the United States! "Congressional interference with our affairs," is very good. This Committee is evidently keenly sensitive on every subject which touches the honor and dignity of the sovereign and independent Territory of Washington.

Successful Burglary—Stowell, Chamberlain & Co's. Safe Blown Open and Robbed.—Our town was startled on Friday morning by the discovery of a great burglary in the Banking Office of Messrs. Stowell, Chamberlain & Co. The safe was a double one made by Lewis Lillie & Son of the largest size weighing many thousand pounds. The burglars obtained an entrance into the office by prying open one of the windows with a jimmy. In the lower left hand corner of the right hand outer door of the safe, which was two inches thick, a hole was drilled through which powder was introduced. It was blown open, separating the outside from the bolts and inside casing, rendering it a complete wreck. The lower hinges of both doors were broken off. They next attacked the inside safe which was two feet high, extending the width and depth of the inside of the main safe. This safe was one and a half inches thick made with folding doors. They drilled another hole through the right hand door in nearly the same point they had on the outside safe, blowing open both doors. This gave them access to the money and bonds, amounting to twenty five thousand dollars, which they carried off. The larger portion of this belonged to special depositors. They also took valuable papers belonging to the firm leaving in their flight a bag of gold and silver, also a hundred dollar bill. This safe was made there until twelve o'clock at night. The explosion was heard about four in the morning, showing they were expeditious in their work.

PRESENCE OF MIND.—Whenever you go out to purchase a good suit of Clothes, or anything in the Clothing line be sure to have presence of mind enough to go to KOHN & FISHEL at the St. Lawrence store No 111 Front street.

Fountain of Life!

FOR

GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARrive when a new direction is imparted to its course. These epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science. The present is an epoch of this kind and this Great Remedy now offered to the public in connection with the theory on which it is based is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood. The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts. It contains no Mercury or other mineral substance.

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything, from the days of Esculapius down to the present time in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world. No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed it can in no way be so readily and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. Thousands have been saved into their graves who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health. It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself. During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting.

Dr. HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured.

FOR REFERENCE

I would refer you to L. L. Peck of Portland, Mrs Walter M. [illegible] and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The Common Council met on Friday evening Feb 8th—His Honor Mayor Holmes in the chair.

Present Councilmen Carter Hallock Lowndale O'Connor Rosenheim and Zeiber.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

The following message from the Mayor was read and ordered to be placed on file:

To the Common Council of the City of Portland—GENTLEMEN I have approved the ordinance passed on the 1st inst., making appropriation for repairs to Front street made necessary by the late storm.

In my communication to the Council Jan 2, 1867 I expressed the opinion and recommended that the expenses of repairing streets should be borne by the property adjacent thereto, [illegible] and recommendation. In approving the ordinance above named it may appear that I have retracted or modified my views on this subject, but such is not the case. I am still of the opinion that it is the correct principle and the most practicable way of keeping streets in good repair, but taking into consideration the peculiar circumstances attending this case and the small amount of the appropriation, I am prompted to make this a special exception to what I earnestly hope may become the established rule for improving and repairing streets and also for constructing and repairing streets.

THOMAS J HOLMES Mayor

Feb 7, 1867

PETITION

A petition was received from A M Giles, praying for an amendment of the ordinance regulating licenses for pedlers. Asks to have the price for city license reduced. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The Committee on Fire and Water to whom was referred the bill of Erlsbin for cleaning the top of a cistern reported the same correct and recommended its payment. The report was adopted.

When the Judiciary Committee was called for report Mr Hallock remarked that the Committee had prepared a report on the petition of Northrup and Braundt for extension of time to complete their contract to fill the ravine at the old bridge, but by accident he had mislaid it. He asked for the Committee further time in which to report. Granted.

The Special Committee, to whom was referred portions of the Mayor's Message, submitted the following report:

To the Mayor and Common Council

Your special committee on the Mayor's' message respectfully report on a part of his recommendations.

We are not wholly agreed upon all herein submitted but to save a multiplicity of reports upon minor points mainly as to matters of appropriations we have concluded to submit this report, and in the future action of the board upon the ordinances, to make such objection as to each may seem best.

Your committee submit herewith an ordinance for the levying and collection of taxes for the year 1867 also an ordinance making appropriations for 1867.

The total amount of appropriations in this bill are ...		$23,167 00
To meet this great expense your committee estimate the revenue as follows From 4½ mill tax	$18,000 00
Licenses	15,000 00
Fines from Recorders' Court	500 00
Unexpended balances...	3,495 10
Amounting to ...		31,995 10
Leaving a surplus unappropriated of		$ 7,818 05

There are several sources of revenue referred to in the message and not considered herein, to swell this amount, that will be considered in a future report.

To successfully manage the city affairs some retrenchment in the expenses will be necessary and is recommended especially, not only by Mayor Holmes, but also by the late Mayor Failing, in his last message to the Council.

Mayor Failing says "The expenses of maintaining the Recorder's Court is now the greatest incubus on the tax payers and demands the especial attention of the Council."

The revenues derived from fees by the Recorder and Marshal may be summed up as follows:

Fees of Recorder, warrants drawn last year ...	$2,309 02
Fees received from county, about...	1 100 00
Fees received from civil cases, estimated ...	1 000 00
Total receipts of Recorder...	$4,409 02

Which amount is nearly double the salary of the District Judge.

The Marshal's fees and receipts sum up as follows:

Warrants on Recorder's Court fund ...	$2,429 31
Warrants on fund of fees not otherwise provided for...	543 23
Warrants for attendance on Council,	150 00
For collection of delinquent taxes, about	500 00
Received from county, about	1,600 00
Civil cases before Recorder, estimated	1,000 00
Salaries of two deputies to help him	2,400 00
Profits on board of city prisoners	400 00
Amounting to...	$9 022 54
And in the aggregate, for both these offices to	$13 431 56

This great amount is indeed an incubus on the tax payers."

It appears, by the reports of the Recorder and Marshal, in all the cases of arrest and trials before the Recorder's Court, Marshal's fees have been charged and paid in full by the city, therefore, the Deputy Marshals paid salaries by the city, amounting to $2 400 per annum, have rendered no services, that the Marshal is not also paid for in full, and they should at once be discharged, and the ordinance fixing their salary repealed, thus relieving the tax payers of that part of the "incubus."

In the opinion of the committee, if the Recorder and Marshal receive simply the fees of office collected by them they would be paid amply for their services. We recommend the repeal of the ordinance providing the Recorders' Court fund.

The salary of the City Attorney is too high for the services rendered, and we recommend the amount of salary be reduced to $500 per annum and an ordinance is submitted herewith.

Your Committee have conferred with the Portland Gas Light Company, and received a tender from them to furnish gas for the street lamps at the rate of six (6) dollars per month for each lamp lighted, and for lighting turning off, and cleaning, the same price as heretofore, viz $30 00 per month.

We recommend a contract be entered into, with them, at the rates named above, and submit ordinance herewith.

A. B HALLOCK
AL ZIEBER.

Portland, February 8th, 1867.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY

Mr Zeiber moved that this order of business be passed over for the present, stating that there are no moneys in the several funds and that, therefore no claims can be paid until the funds for defraying the expenses of 1867 shall be provided by ordinance. The motion prevailed.

PAPERS LYING ON THE TABLE.

On motion of Mr Hallock, the petition for the laying of side-walks on a portion of Fourth street, some time since presented and placed on file, was taken from the file and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

READING OF ORDINANCES

An ordinance levying sundry taxes for the year 1867, was read a first time and second time by title. [This ordinance provides a tax of 4½ mills.]

An ordinance making appropriations for defraying the expenses of the city for the year 1867 was read first and second times.

An ordinance to authorize the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses to contract with the Portland Gas Company, for lighting the street lamps for the year, was read first and second times. [Authorizes contract at $6 per lamp per month.]

The report was ordered to be placed on file and the ordinances to come up in their regular order.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

Chief Engineer Thomas G Young reported that Multnomah Engine Co No 2, is in need of a barrel of oil for engine and hose. Referred to the Committee on Fire and Water with instructions to procure the oil.

Marshal Hoyt reported that he had collected the delinquent taxes levied on property for improvement of B street, and paid the same over to the City Treasurer.

An ordinance to amend ordinance No 166, fixing the salary of the City Attorney was read first and second times. [Reduces salary to $500 per year, with such fees as may be hereafter fixed by ordinance.]

The ordinance to extend the time for completing the contract to fill ravine at the old bridge was read third time and passed.

YEAS—Messrs. Carter, Carson Lowndale O Connor, Rosenheim and Zeiber.

NAY—Mr Hallock.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Mr Zeiber moved to suspend the rules and read the ordinance making appropriations for the current year a third time. Lost.

Mr Lowndale moved that the assessments on property for the improvement of Front street at the bridge be called for in the manner prescribed in the city charter. The motion prevailed.

The Council adjourned.

FROM GRAND RONDE.—Mr Coggan, who arrived here last evening from La Grande reports that the Meacham road is now open and in good order, the sleighing being excellent across the mountains. It is not true that any of the bridges have been carried away. There is no snow in Grand Ronde valley, and the weather is mild. Stock is doing well. Messrs. Olds and Blackner are pushing forward a new flouring mill at Oro Dell with three runs of burrs, determined to make it second to none in the State. The Umatilla side of the Blue Mountains looks like spring —grass green and everything wearing the appearance of the final departure of old winter.

THE GEM OF THE MOUNTAIN.—Mr Benjamin Fuell writes from Eagle Creek to Mr Joe Below of this city that the workmen engaged in sinking up the Gem Ledge have lately come upon two veins or branches which came in from the side of the original ledge and connect with the latter. They are each about one foot in thickness and make the ledge, below the point of union, about four feet thick. These veins were both very rich and the ledge below is much richer than above the junction of the veins. This discovery has added largely to the confidence hitherto felt in the Gem.

FROM THE UPPER WILLAMETTE.—The steamers Reliance and Enterprise are expected down from the Upper Willamette to-day. The water is now low enough so that these boats will enter the basin. A large arrival of produce may be looked for on Monday.

RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.—The Vancouver Fire Company had a special meeting on Wednesday evening at which the following resolutions of thanks to Portland firemen were adopted by an unanimous vote:

Be it Resolved by this Company That our thanks are due and they are hereby tendered to Thomas G Young Esq Chief Engineer of the Portland Fire Department for procuring, [illegible] the [illegible] Companies under his command to [illegible] Engine and [illegible] their services [illegible] A B Hallock Esq [illegible] Multnomah [illegible] for the [illegible] Company [illegible] the different Companies [illegible] Engine to Vancouver [illegible] the same.

Resolved That we will ever cherish the generous kindness extended to us by our warm hearted friends of the Portland Fire Department and that as a token of [illegible] the Secretary be instructed to [illegible] these resolutions [illegible] and also forward the same to the Vancouver Register and the Portland [illegible] for publication.

PORTLAND COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We paid a brief visit to this institution yesterday and were pleased to find that it is gaining a permanent prosperity. It has now thirty eight students on its register with an average attendance for the last thirty of twenty five or twenty eight in the evening [illegible]. The greater part of them are now in the theoretic course but some twelve or fifteen will next week enter upon the Second or Business Department. The courses of instruction, we find, are greatly assisted by the establishment at [illegible] the students [illegible] books exactly as they will be required to do when they enter upon the active duties of life. The Practical or Business Department is conducted on the plan of the New York Corn Exchange and is divided into three branches —Actual Business, Merchants Emporium and Banking and Exchange. The entire course is taken by each student without regard to time consumed, some requiring a much longer time than others, the average being about four months for young men who begin the course with a fair English education. The tuition fee for the entire course is $60. We believe that the institution is one that will confer incalculable benefit upon such young men as avail themselves of its thorough course of instruction.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—The following items are furnished by the Vancouver Register:

A number of gentlemen in this town are about to organize a Base Ball Club with every prospect of success. Only a few more names are lacking to complete the organization. Major Foster Adjutant General has gone to San Francisco and Lieut Strong has been designated to act temporarily in that capacity. During the past week we have received communications from six or seven aspirants to Congress belonging to both political parties in this Territory modestly asking the support of the Register in the event of their nomination. We can't see it by the light of that lamp. The fair for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum will commence at Brant's Hall on Tuesday evening the 12th inst and will continue for three successive evenings. A great assortment of fancy needle work embroidery and many other articles will be disposed of. Preparations have also been made to amuse and entertain the young with Valentines grab bags fortune table and other devices. Suitable refreshments have also been provided. We sincerely trust that the fair will be a complete success in realizing the object more deserving of the liberality and good wishes of the people.

FROM OREGON CITY.—A passenger by the Alert yesterday, says Capt. Kellogg informed him that the boats above which have been unable to make regular trips on account of high water will resume on Monday and run as heretofore advertised. * * The breakwater about the safety of which some fears were entertained, stood the high water without the least damage or indication of weakness. This work reflects much credit on Capt Kellogg who superintended its construction. * * The new Cliff House is spoken of as offering very superior accommodations to guests.

COLUMBIA LODGE, I O G T.—Mr Beal on Thursday evening installed the following officers for Columbia Lodge No 64, Good Templars: A Pullen, W C T, Mrs Long W V T, S E Paddock, W S, Miss B Whitaker W A S, Henry Whitaker F S, Miss N E Stansbury W T, Charles Wright, W M, Miss M M Stansbury, D M, Miss M M Whitaker I G, Stephen Wright O G, Isaac Rennison W C, Mrs. Isabella Whitaker R H S, Mrs M J Pullen L H S. This lodge is located at Mr Long's on the Columbia Slough and has a membership of thirty five.

MEETING OF THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—In compliance with the Constitution the annual meeting of the Portland Library Association was held last Saturday evening, Mr Catef presiding and Mr Failing acting as Secretary. There being no quorum present the meeting adjourned to convene again at the Library rooms at seven o clock this evening. The official reports for the past year will be read, and such other matters as may be deemed necessary for the general welfare of the association will be acted upon. The meeting should be well attended.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court Judge Marquam has been in session during the entire week, but up to last evening very little work had been completed. Considerable time had been devoted to the consideration of road supervisors accounts and other county business in which orders will be entered to-day. Nearly two days were spent in the trial of the case of Ripley vs Cahn Bros. The decision of the Judge is reserved till next week. One other case was continued to next term. The Court will adjourn to day.

GOT HIS FOOT IN IT.—A deer attempting to swim the river yesterday came to a halt at the immense log raft above Carter Hayden & Co.'s saw mill. Finding he could not swim around it, he concluded to go over it. He accordingly clambered upon the raft, but had not proceeded far when he got a foot between two logs and stuck fast. From this accidental imprisonment he was set free by a couple of workmen who, contrary to the laws of war, slaughtered the poor creature.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT.—The law case of the Cascade Rail road Company vs Joseph Bailey docketed for trial at the February term, is a suit to determine the rights of that company as against others to the right of way for a rail road on the Oregon side of the Columbia river, around the Cascades. The result will indeed, go further than that—it will determine whether any company has any vested right in the premises. It is an important suit.

RECORDER'S COURT.—On Friday—The case of Vance, assault compromised and charge withdrawn, costs paid by defendant. The charge of assault against Sweeny, dismissed on same terms. John Wilson for being drunk and disorderly was sent to jail for one day. Hop Wo Yow, charged with an attempt to commit a larceny at the Howard House was held to answer before the grand jury.

IN SIGHT AGAIN.—The water of the Willamette has fallen very rapidly for several days. Most of the lower wharves are again above water.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Alert Feb 8th—303 sks feed, 5 gunnies bacon, 80 sks wheat.

The best Clothing is sold

The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The Common Council met on Friday evening, Feb 8th—His Honor, Mayor Holmes in the chair

Present, Councilmen Carter Hallock, Lowndsdale, O'Connor Rosenheim and Zeiber

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR.

The following message from the Mayor was read and ordered to be placed on file

To the Common Council of the City of Portland—GENTLEMEN I have approved the ordinance passed on the 1st inst. making appropriation for repairs to Front street made necessary by the late storm

In my communication to the Council Jan 2 1867 I expressed the opinion and recommended that the expenses of repairing streets should be borne by the property adjacent thereto giving my reasons for such opinion and recommendation. In approving the ordinance above named, it may appear that I have retracted, or modified my views on this subject, but such is not the case as I am still of the opinion that it is the correct principle and the most practicable way of keeping streets in good repair but taking into consideration the peculiar circumstances attending this case and the small amount of the appropriation, I am prompted to make this a special exception to what I earnestly hope may become the established rule for improving and repairing streets and also for constructing and repairing streets.

THOMAS J HOLMES, Mayor

PETITION

A petition was received from A M Giles praying for an amendment of the ordinance regulating licenses for peddlers. Asks to have the price for city license reduced Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The Committee on Fire and Water, to whom was referred the bill of Eriabin for cleaning the top of a cistern, reported the same correct and recommended its payment The report was adopted.

When the Judiciary Committee was called for report Mr Hallock remarked that the Committee had prepared a report on the petition of Northrup and Brannif for extension of time to complete their contract to fill the ravine at the old bridge; but by accident he had mislaid it. He asked for the Committee, further time in which to report Granted.

The Special Committee, to whom was referred portions of the Mayor's Message, submitted the following report

To the Mayor and Common Council.

Your special committee on the Mayors' message, respectfully report on a part of his recommendations

We are not wholly agreed upon all herein submitted, but to save a multiplicity of reports upon minor points, mainly as to matters of appropriations, we have concluded to submit this report, and in the future action of the board upon the ordinances, to make such objection as to each may seem best.

Your committee submit herewith an ordinance for the levying and collection of taxes for the year 1867, also an ordinance making appropriations for 1867

The total amount of appropriations in this bill are		$20,167 05
To meet this great expense your committee estimate the revenue as follows: From 4½ mill tax	$18,000 00
Licenses	15,000 00
Fines from Recorders' Court.	500 00
Unexpended balances	3,495 10
Amounting to		31,995 10
Leaving a surplus unappropriated of		$ 7,818 05

There are several sources of revenue referred to in the message and not considered herein, to swell this amount, that will be considered in a future report.

To successfully manage the city affairs some retrenchment in the expenses will be necessary and is recommended especially, not only by Mayor Holmes, but also by the late Mayor Failing, in his last message to the Council

Mayor Failing says. "The expenses of maintaining the Recorder's Court is now the greatest incubus on the tax payers, and demands the especial attention of the Council."

The revenues derived from fees by the Recorder and Marshal may be summed up as follows

Fees of Recorder, warrants drawn last year	$2,309 02
Fees received from county, about	1 100 00
Fees received from civil cases, estimated.	1,000 00
Total receipts of Recorder	$4,409 02

Which amount is nearly double the salary of the District Judge.

The Marshal's fees and receipts sum up as follows

Warrants on Recorder's Court fund	$2,429 31
Warrants on fund of fees not otherwise provided for	543 23
Warrants for attendance on Council,	150 00
For collection of delinquent taxes, about	500 00
Received from county, about	1,600 00
Civil cases before Recorder, estimated	1,000 00
Salaries of two deputies to help him	2,400 00
Profits on board of city prisoners	400 00
Amounting to	$9,022 54

And in the aggregate, for both these offices, to $13,431 56

This great amount is indeed an "incubus on the tax payers"

It appears, by the reports of the Recorder and Marshal, in all the cases of arrest and trials before the Recorder's Court, Marshal's fees have been charged and paid in full by the city, therefore, the Deputy Marshals' paid salaries by the city, amounting to $2,400 per annum, have rendered no services, that the Marshal is not also paid for in full, and they should at once be discharged, and the ordinance fixing their salary repealed, thus relieving the tax payers of that part of the "incubus"

In the opinion of the committee, if the Recorder and Marshal receive simply the fees of office collected by them, they would be paid amply for their services We recommend the repeal of the ordinance providing the Recorders' Court fund.

The salary of the City Attorney is too high for the services rendered, and we recommend the amount of salary be reduced to $500 per annum, and an ordinance is submitted herewith.

Your Committee have conferred with the Portland Gas Light Company, and received a tender from them to furnish gas for the street lamps at the rate of six (6) dollars per month for each lamp lighted, and for lighting, turning off, and cleaning the same price as heretofore, viz $30 00 per month.

We recommend a contract be entered into, with them, at the rates named above, and submit ordinance herewith

A. B. HALLOCK
AL. ZIEBER.

Portland, February 8th, 1867.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

Mr. Zeiber moved that this order of business be passed over for the present, stating that there are no moneys in the several funds and that, therefore, no claims can be paid until the funds for defraying the expenses of 1867 shall be provided by ordinance. The motion prevailed

BUSINESS LYING ON THE TABLE.

On motion of Mr. Hallock, the petition for the laying of side-walks on a portion of Fourth street some time since presented and placed on file, was taken from the file and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property

READING OF ORDINANCES.

An ordinance levying sundry taxes for the year 1867, was read a first time and second time by title [This ordinance provides a tax of 4½ mills.]

An ordinance making appropriations for defraying the expenses of the city for the year 1867, was read first and second times.

An ordinance to authorize the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses to contract with the Portland Gas Company, for lighting the street lamps for the year, was read first and second times. [Authorizes contract at $6 per lamp per month.]

The report was ordered to be placed on file and the ordinances to come up in their regular order

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

Chief Engineer, Thomas G Young, reported that Multnomah Engine Co No 2, is in need of a barrel of oil for engine and hose Referred to the Committee on Fire and Water with instructions to procure the oil

Marshal Hoyt reported that he had collected the delinquent taxes levied on property for improvement of B street, and paid the same over to the City Treasurer

An ordinance to amend ordinance No 160, fixing the salary of the City Attorney was read first and second times. [Reduces salary to $500 per year, with such fees as may be hereafter fixed by ordinance]

The ordinance to extend the time for completing the contract to fill ravine at the old bridge was read third time and passed.

YEAS—Messrs. Carter, Carson Lowndsdale, O'Connor, Rosenheim and Zeiber

NAY—Mr Hallock

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS

Mr Zeiber moved to suspend the rules and read the ordinance making appropriations for the current year a third time Lost

Mr Lowndsdale moved that the assessments on property for the improvement of Front street at the bridge be called for in the manner prescribed in the city charter The motion prevailed.

The Council adjourned

FROM GRAND RONDE.—Mr Coggan, who arrived here last evening from La Grande, reports to us that the Meacham road is now open and in good order, the sleighing being excellent across the mountains It is not true that any of the bridges have been carried away There is no snow in Grand Ronde valley, and the weather is mild Stock is doing well. Messrs Olds and Blackner are pushing forward a new flouring mill at Oredel, with three runs of burrs, determined to make it second to none in the State. The Umatilla side of the Blue Mountains looks like spring—grass green, and everything wearing the appearance of the final departure of old winter

THE GEM OF THE MOUNTAINS.—Mr Benjamin Fuell writes from Eagle Creek to Mr Joe Bellew of this city that the workmen engaged in sinking up the Gem Ledge have lately come upon two veins or branches which came in from the side of the original ledge and combine with the latter They are each about one foot in thickness and make the ledge, below the point of union, about four feet thick. These veins were both very rich and the ledge below is much richer than above the junction of the veins This discovery has added largely to the confidence hitherto felt in the Gem

FROM THE UPPER WILLAMETTE.—The steamers Reliance and Enterprise are expected down from the Upper Willamette to-day The water is now low enough so that these boats will enter the basin A large arrival of produce may be looked for on Monday

RESOLUTIONS OF THANKS.—The Vancouver Fire Company had a special meeting on Wednesday evening at which the following resolutions of thanks to Portland firemen were adopted by an unanimous vote

Be it Resolved by this Company That our thanks are due and they are hereby tendered to Thomas G Young Esq Chief Engineer of the Portland Fire Department for procuring delegations from the different Fire Companies under his command to escort and tow our Engine and [illegible] and services which he generously extended to us Also to A B Hallock Esq Foreman of Multnomah No 2 for the interest he manifested in putting our Engine in good working order and the valuable and instructive advice he offered the Company Also to the members of Multnomah No 2 generally for their kind assistance in cleaning our Engine and providing for its stay while in Portland. Also the delegations from the different Companies who escorted our Engine to Vancouver and tendered a free [illegible] and housing the same

Resolved That we will ever cherish the generous kindness extended to us by our warm hearted friends of the Portland Fire Department and that as a token and lasting testimonial of our appreciation the Secretary be instructed to spread these resolutions upon the record and also forward the same to the Vancouver Register and the Portland dailies for publication

PORTLAND COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We paid a brief visit to this institution yesterday and were pleased to find that it is gaining a permanent prosperity It has now thirty eight students on its register with an average attendance in the day time of twenty five to twenty eight and in the evening, ten to twelve The greater part of them are now in the theoretic course but some twelve or fifteen will, next week enter upon the Second or Business Department The courses of instruction we find, are greatly assisted by the establishment among the students of commercial and business firms who carry on sets of books exactly as they will be required to do when they enter upon the active duties of life The Practical or Business Department is conducted on the plan of the New York Corn Exchange and is divided into three branches—Actual Business Merchants Emporium and Banking and Exchange The entire course is taken by each student without regard to the time consumed some requiring a much longer time than others the average being about four months, for young men who begin the course with a fair English education The tuition fee for the entire course is $50 We believe that the institution is one that will confer incalculable benefit upon such young men as avail themselves of its thorough course of instruction

A number of gentleman in this town are about to organize a Base Ball Club with every prospect of success Only a few more names are lacking to complete the organization Major Foster, Adjutant General, has gone to San Francisco, and Lieut Strong has been designated to act temporarily in that capacity During the past week we have received communications from six or seven aspirants to Congress, belonging to both political parties in this Territory, modestly asking the support of the Register in the event of their nomination We can't see it by the light of that lamp The Fair for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum will commence at Brant's Hall on Tuesday evening the 12th inst, and will continue for three successive evenings. A great assortment of fancy needle work, embroidery and many other articles will be disposed of Preparations have also been made to amuse and entertain the young with Valentines grab-bags, fortune table and other devices Suitable refreshments have also been provided We sincerely trust that the Fair will be a complete success there being no object more deserving of the liberality and good wishes of the people

FROM OREGON CITY.—A passenger by the Alert, yesterday, says Capt. Kellogg informed him that the boats above which have been unable to make regular trips on account of high water will resume on Monday and run as heretofore advertised. * * The breakwater, about the safety of which some fears were entertained stood the high water without the least damage or indication of weakness. This work reflects much credit on Capt Kellogg who superintended its construction * * The new Cliff House is spoken of as offering very superior accommodations to guests

COLUMBIA LODGE, I O G T.—Mr Beal, on Thursday evening, installed the following officers for Columbia Lodge No. 54, Good Templars A Pullen, W C T, Mrs Lang, W V T S. E Paddock, W S, Miss B Whitaker, W A S, Henry Whitaker, F S Miss N E Stansbury, W T., Charles Wright, W M Miss M M Stansbury, D M, Miss M M Whitaker, I G Stephen Wright, O G Isaac Rennison W C, Mrs Isabella Whitaker, R H S, Mrs. M J Pullen L H S. This lodge is located at Mr Long's, on the Columbia Slough, and has a membership of thirty five.

MEETING OF THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—In compliance with the Constitution the annual meeting of the Portland Library Association was held last Saturday evening, Mr Calef presiding, and Mr Failing acting as Secretary There being no quorum present the meeting adjourned to convene again at the Library rooms at seven o'clock this evening The official reports for the past year will be read, and such other matters as may be deemed necessary for the general welfare of the association will be acted upon. The meeting should be well attended.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court, Judge Marquam, has been in session during the entire week, but up to last evening very little work had been completed Considerable time had been devoted to the consideration of road supervisors' accounts and other county business in which orders will be entered to-day. Nearly two days were spent in the trial of the case of Ripley vs Cohn Bros The decision of the Judge is reserved till next week One other case was continued to next term The Court will adjourn to-day

GOT HIS FOOT IN IT.—A deer attempting to swim the river yesterday, came to a halt at the immense log raft above Carter, Hayden & Co.'s saw mill Finding he could not swim around it, he concluded to go over it He accordingly clambered upon the raft, but had not proceeded far when he got a foot between two logs and stuck fast From this accidental imprisonment he was set free by a couple of workmen who, contrary to the laws of war, slaughtered the poor creature.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT.—The law case of the Cascade Railroad Company vs Joseph Bailey, docketed for trial at the February term, is a suit to determine the rights of that company as against others to the right of way for a railroad on the Oregon side of the Columbia river, around the Cascades. The result will, indeed, go farther than that—it will determine whether any company has any vested right in the premises. It is an important suit.

RECORDER'S COURT.—On Friday—The case of Vance, assault, compromised and charge withdrawn, costs paid by defendant. The charge of assault against Sweeny, dismissed on same terms John Wilson, for being drunk and disorderly was sent to jail for one day. Hop Wo Yow, charged with an attempt to commit a larceny at the Howard House was held to answer before the grand jury.

IN SIGHT AGAIN.—The water of the Willamette has fallen very rapidly for several days. Most of the lower wharves are again above water.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Alert, Feb 8th—303 sks feed, 5 gunnies bacon, 30 sks wheat.

PAIN KILLER.

GENTS Having used and witnessed the beneficial effects of PERRY DAVIS PAIN KILLER I take great pleasure in commending it to the public as the very best Family Medicine with which I am acquainted. In this establishment are employed nearly one hundred persons and your PAIN KILLER has been used with the most astonishing results For FOUR YEARS not a single severe case of Cholic, Summer Complaint, or Dysentery, but has yielded like magic to the curative powers of the "killer" and for Cuts Bruises etc it is in almost daily use, and with like good effects

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions the sale of which daily increases The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice

An Episode in an Editor's Life

I am an editor. On a fine bitter cold morning a few days before Christmas, in the year 1—, I sat as usual in my den. Among the heaps of manuscript I was daily compelled to examine—many of them desultory, untidy, [illegible] stitched, uncertain of spelling, [illegible] of grammar, and [illegible] neither beginning, middle nor end—was one written on the [illegible] [illegible] paper in a childish lady's hand, on lines which had been carefully [illegible] afterward. It was a little story, [illegible], for there was an aroma [illegible] in every line. There was a promise in it. It was like the light in the sky before the sun had risen on a fine day—an omen, a promise of [illegible] warmth, but no more. I [illegible] as if I had touched the petal of a rose. There was a tiny scented note beside it—of course full of italics.

[illegible] — Dear Mr Editor: [illegible] is a little story. I am [illegible] sixteen [illegible] [illegible] anything about it [illegible] printed [illegible] [illegible] my dear [illegible] little [illegible] am dear Mr Editor, yours [illegible]

EMILY

Then came the address and the signature. The writing of the note was less neat and regular than the manuscript, but there was the same fragrance of dainty youth about it.

I held it a long time in my hand. I am an old man—at all events middle-aged, perhaps something more. My beard is gray, my hair is gray too. I have no doubt that to the jeunesse dorée whom I occasionally meet I wear the look of Dickens' patriarch, but my heart is younger than my appearance. Little distillations came, or seemed to come, from the paper I held. Had I been a Foster or a Hume I might perhaps have divined the writer; but certes, it was with no common feeling of interest that I sat down and wrote my answer to the note. I returned the manuscript, but I wrote gently and tenderly. I gave it as my hope and my opinion that with a little more care and study the youthful writer would achieve a success. I even promised to print that identical manuscript if it were a little revised and corrected, and I pointed out how it might be made available. I opened the window of my den after I had written my note. The weeds piercing through the flags below had a less dreary look than they ever had before; a gleam of sunshine shone on them, and their frosty verdure borrowed something of Picciola brightness from it. I posted my letter and the manuscript to the address named, and went home, wondering if ever I should hear from the writer again. With that, however, all thoughts of the manuscript passed away. The author was too timid to reply.

On Christmas eve I was asked, as usual, to dine with an old friend of mine at St John's Wood. He was a married man, with a pleasant, comely wife, and several small children, male and female. We dined en petit comite.

"The children are not coming down to dinner," said my hostess, "for they are going to give us a surprise afterward."

I bowed and was delighted, both at the anticipation of pleasure to come and of privation for the first time of considerable present annoyance. I need not say I was then a bachelor. When we went up stairs after dinner we found the folding doors which divided the front from the back room closed.

They were opened after a while. The Christmas hymn was sung, and a German tree of the most brilliant splendor was revealed; on its branches were hung gifts worked and embroidered by the children for their parents. The three little girls and their governess had done it all.

While my friend and his wife were embracing and thanking the children, I had time to notice the governess. She was very young, almost a child herself. A mass of bright hair was gathered up in great waves at each side of her head, and fastened in a loose thick loop behind. The bright curls were so arranged as to reveal the ear. The ear and cheek were, I should rather say they are like those painted by Leighton in his "Painter's Honeymoon." Need I say more of their ravishing loveliness? But the pretty blue eyes looked as if they had cried a good deal, and there had been recent tears, for the eyelids were somewhat swollen. She was not sad at present however, for she played on the piano for the children and for me, their old godfather, to dance to, and she joined with us in a game of blind man's buff. When the children retired she retired also.

"What a charming person," I said.

"She is most excellent," said my friend. "Although she is so young, Miss —— is the bread provider of her family. Her father and mother have, according to the cant phrase, seen better days; in fact, they are people of good birth, and once had a good fortune. They have a son and daughter; the son is a fine fellow also. Both the son and the daughter give the greater part of their earnings to their parents, but the son has not been very fortunate. My little governess, she is only seventeen (my children are so young they do not require a prim governess), does more with her salary, mediocre as it is, than her brother can do with his hard work. He is clerk in a bank."

"And she helps him also, I suppose?"

"I dare say she does, but I have never inquired, for she is full of reticence and reserve on these points. I only know she would sit up all night and work like a horse all day, to help brother and parents. She is going home to-morrow, but he, I fear, cannot afford the expense of the journey. The parents live now in Scotland."

"Could we not help him?" I said, bashfully.

My friend smiled. Both brother and sister spent Christmas at home.

My good fortune threw me a good deal after this with my friends' governess. Must I say that from that Christmas Eve, I was never heart whole!

The following Easter we were engaged, and before the Christmas Eve which followed, we were married. What an aim and a hope my life had now acquired!

We have a little suburban house, and I leave my wife every morning to pursue my editorial labors, and return every evening, forgetting my work and my worries, knowing that the sweetest heart and the fairest face I have ever known, await me in my modest but happy home. I have never heard again from the author of the manuscript which had so much interested me, and, truth to tell, had never thought of her since that Christmas Eve. Two or three years have passed since then, and we have two babies. Such babies! I will not rhapsodize, but if rosy flesh, and round contours, and lovely limbs can be called beauty, my girl and my boy would win prizes in any baby show in the world.

Their mother is always playing with them. She often puts her delicate slender white hand under my baby girl's foot, and the baby makes believe to stand on it. What a picture it is—the pink toes and the dent in the round little ancle, and the pearly instep, harmonize yet contrast so gloriously with the taper fingers and the blue veined white of that flower like hand. It is like a rosebud laid on a white camelia. She then holds up the baby girl to me, and I kiss it before I go. My two year old little boy toddles after me and gives me his chubby little hat to hold till I get to the door. And so we live. I could not help, as I sat at my labors a few days ago, recalling the picture of motherly beauty and womanly loveliness I had left at home. How I wished all womanhood could be typified thus!

As I walked up and down the room, reading a scratchy, scrawly manuscript, and fumbling over it in desperation—for the tiresome person who had sent it had by some ingenious carelessness mulcted it of its last page—my thoughts flew far and wide, and, by some association I cannot explain, the pretty manuscript from the youthful writer who had sent me no more was recalled to me.

Unconsciously the manuscript I held faded from my mind, and the other was present with me. I wondered what had become of her—had she written any more?—where and how was she?

Every moment I became more and more possessed with this memory. I was so happy myself that I felt for all who seemed to have care and struggle in their lives. I looked out the address to which I had written before, and wrote to the unknown a few lines. I said that time had passed (five years, almost) that the youthful inexperience which had prevented the paper she had sent from being accepted must now be corrected, and that I should be glad and willing to see anything else she had written, if she had written anything since then.

Within a few days I had an answer. The writing was in a formed hand, quite unlike the round, hesitating girlish hand I had remembered. The words were, however, as sweet and innocent as the first had been. The note ran as follows:

It is so good of you to remember me, but I do not write any more. I am so happy. I have such a dear [illegible] good noble husband. Oh! [illegible] [illegible] I thought as [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] darling babies. I wrote [illegible] to help my dear ones but they [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] all ever have hoped to help them [illegible] [illegible] a better friend than I [illegible] [illegible] you shall do so. [illegible] [illegible] with a rose in her hand, hold out yours. You will know me.

I smiled at the romantic fervor of this reply, and a faint desire arose that my wife and the writer of that letter should know each other, and then I went on with my stupefying avocations.

As I went home I confess I looked about for a woman with a rose in her hand, but, as might naturally be supposed, neither in cabs or omnibusses did such an apparition manifest itself.

As I entered my own door I gave an impatient shrug at the idea of having been the subject of a foolish jest. But what did I see standing just within the threshold of my home? My darling, with her fair child like face and bright hair, love and youth crowning her with a triple crown—and in her hand was a rose!

"Dear husband," she said as I kissed her, "I think I loved you from the moment I had your kind indulgent thoughtful note. I had written that silly little story, for I sadly wanted a little money to pay for Gerald's return home at Christmas to be with papa and mamma, and I had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]."

"And you were disappointed, my pet. What a [illegible] I must have seemed!"

"No. I felt how foolish I had been, and I cried heartily, but I thought you good and kind all the same. And Gerald got home, too, and we had a happy Christmas after all."

I kissed her.

"But are you never going to write a story for my magazine again?"

"I do not know," she said archly. "Meanwhile, you can write ours if you like."

The Gipsy Divorce

The first wife of McDonald, a sort of gipsy king in Scotland, was a virago called Eppie Lundie, famous for stripping her victims, if met with in lonely places, leaving them in woods and fields stark as when they were born, but she was too much of a vixen even for her robber husband, and he divorced her over a dead horse according to the rites and ceremonies of his race. This is an effectual but expensive manner of getting rid of a bad wife among the gipsies, for horseflesh is dear, and the gipsies do not eat it when killed, and as the sacrifice must be unblemished and in no manner lame, it is not therefore any "old screw," worn out and useless, that will answer the purpose. The sun must "be at its height" when the ceremony is to take place; none but gipsies of full blood are allowed to be present, and lots are cast for the one who is to be the sacrificial priest on the occasion. All the men and women taking part in the rites carry long staves, and the priest, with a hot staff in his hand, walks round and round the horse many times, repeating the names of all who possessed it, and extolling its qualities and virtues. Then it is shot, and the man and woman, joining hands at the head, walk slowly down toward the tail—the horse between them—saying certain sentences together. By another version they walk three times round the body of the horse contrariwise, passing and crossing each other at certain points as they proceed in opposite directions. At certain parts of the horse (the corners of the horse was the gipsy's expression), such as the hind and fore feet, the shoulders and haunches, the head and tail, the parties halt and face each other, and again repeat sentences in their own speech at each time they halt. The two last stops they make in their circuit round the sacrifice are at the head and tail. At the head they again face each other and speak, and lastly at the tail they again confront each other, utter some more gipsy expressions, shake hands, and finally part, the one going north, the other south, never again to be united in this life."

Immediately after the separation takes place, the woman receives a token of cast iron, about an inch and a half square, with a T upon it, and which she must always wear about her person. A divorced woman cannot marry again, but the husband may have as many wives as he likes to marry, and sacrifice a horse to get rid of afterward.

In another account the horse is made, in a manner, the scapegoat and representative of the woman. Perfect and free, it is turned loose, and by its manner of going sets forth the degree of sin. If wild and difficult to be caught, leaping dykes and ditches and plunging madly along, the woman is held to have been infamous and guilty exceedingly, and if the beast is wild out of all bounds of charity to endure, both horse and woman are sacrificed together. If calm, and mild, and docile and easily caught, the woman is said to be not so very guilty after all, and the scapegoat may bear her sins very well.

When McDonald divorced his wife, Eppie Lundie, one Mr Allan Ramsay came upon them unexpectedly in a hollow, and saw them walk hand in hand on either side of a dead horse till they came to the tail, when silently they parted, each proceeding in a different direction, as if going on a journey. Mr. Ramsay said he never could forget the violent swing which McDonald gave his wife at parting.

The Russian gipsies also sacrifice horses on occasions, and it seems as if the custom can be traced to Hindoostan, the gipsies' land of adoption, the second cradle, so to speak. The Yetholm gipsies, more prudent than the rest of their brethren, only knock down their "cuddies" or donkies, when they separate from their wives, which answers all the purpose of the more expensive sacrifice.

The Clothes Line Telegraph.—In the early part of 1863, when the Union army was encamped at Falmouth and picketing the Rappahannock, the utmost tact and ingenuity were displayed by the scouts and vedettes in gaining a knowledge of contemplated movements on the other side, and here, as at various other times, the shrewdness of the African camp attendants was very remarkable.

One circumstance in particular shows how quick the race are in learning the art of communicating by signals.

There came into the Union lines a negro from a farm on the other side of the river, known by the name of Dabney, who was found to possess a remarkably clear knowledge of the topography of the whole region, and he was employed as cook and body servant at headquarters. When he first saw our system of army telegraphs the idea interested him intensely, and he begged the operator to explain the signs to him. They did so, and found that he could understand and remember the meaning of the various movements as well as any of his brethren of paler hue.

Not long after, his wife, who had come with him, expressed a great anxiety to be allowed to go over to the other side as servant to a "secesh woman," whom General Hooker was about sending over to her friends. The request was granted. Dabney's wife went across the Rappahannock, and in a few days was duly installed as laundress at the headquarters of a prominent rebel General. Dabney, her husband, on the north bank, was soon found to be wonderfully well informed as to all the rebel plans. Within an hour of the time that a movement of any kind was projected, or even discussed among the rebel Generals, Hooker knew all about it. He knew which corps was moving or about to move, in what direction, how long they had been on the march, and in what force; and all this knowledge came through Dabney, and his reports turned out to be true.

Yet Dabney was never absent, and never talked with the scouts, and seemed to be always taken up with his duties as cook and groom about headquarters.

How he obtained his information remained for some time a puzzle to the Union officers. At length, upon much solicitation, he unfolded his marvelous secret to one of our officers.

Taking him to a point where a clear view could be obtained of Fredericksburg, he pointed out a little cabin in the suburbs near the river bank, and asked him if he saw that clothes line with clothes hanging on it to dry. "Well," said he, "that clothes line tells me in half an hour just what goes on at Lee's headquarters. You see my wife over there for the officers, and cooks and waits round, and as soon as she hears about any movement or anything going on, she comes down and moves the clothes on that line so that I can understand it in a minute. That there grey shirt is Longstreet, and when she takes it off she means he's gone down about Richmond. That white shirt means Hill, and when she moves it up to the West end of the line Hill's corps has moved up the stream. That red one is Stonewall, he's down on the right now, and if he moves she will move that red shirt."

One morning Dabney came in and reported a movement over there. "But," says he, "it don't amount to anything. They're just making believe."

An officer went out to look at the clothes line telegraph through his field glass. There had been quite a shifting over there among the enemy's flannels. "But how do you know but there is something in it?"

"Do you see those two blankets pinned together at the bottom?" asked Dabney.

"Yes, but what of it?" said the officer.

"Why, that's her way of making a fish trap, and when she pins the clothes together that way it means that Lee is only trying to draw us into his fish trap."

As long as the two armies lay watching each other on the opposite banks of the stream, Dabney, with his clothes line telegraph, continued to be one of the promptest and most reliable of Gen Hooker's scouts.—Frank Moore's Anecdotes.

For the Benefit of Others.—A most striking case of disinterestedness came under our observation the other day. A gentleman complained of headache, and said it was produced by drinking Irish whisky. We told him our private opinion was, it served him right.

But, said he, I did it for the benefit of others. I knew if my companion drank it all, he would get drunk and abuse his family, so I drank what he offered me, leaving him just enough to make him good natured.

We gave it up at once and resolved to chronicle the fact as a remarkable instance of self denial for the benefit of a fellow creature and his family.

A poor man who had been ill, on being asked by a gentleman whether he had taken any remedy, replied, "No, I haint taken any remedy, but I have taken lots of physic."

At a baby convention in Massachusetts, fifteen mothers were present, and on a vote for the prettiest, each baby got one vote.

Curious Chinese Stories.—The London Pall Mall Gazette says there is a well known Chinese story of a penniless man who going out with a rope in his hand to hang himself found a purse of money, which induced him to throw the rope away, whereas the owner of the purse coming back to look for his property, and finding only the rope, instead straightway hanged himself. A still more curious tale of a similar kind is told by the Chinese papers. In the native city of Shanghae the parents of a young lady, lately married, having fallen into distressed circumstances, appealed to her for assistance, and her husband allowed her to give them a coat for the purpose of being pawned. The daughter, however, being anxious to render them further assistance without her husband's knowledge, secreted sixteen dollars in the pocket of the coat. The old man did not discover this and took it to a pawnbroker, who on noticing the money on unfolding the garment, kept his counsel, and quietly advanced two dollars. Soon as the husband discovered that his wife had given sixteen dollars to her father, he made so much noise about it that the young lady disposed of herself by hanging. In this way the news of the robbery committed by the pawnbroker became known to the parents, and the old mother took the matter so much to heart that she committed suicide by taking opium. Lastly, the pawnbroker getting alarmed on hearing that his dishonesty had already caused two deaths, drowned himself in a well. This story is very characteristic of the Chinese feelings in regard to life, and similar incidents frequently occur.

Some years ago, for instance, an accomplished young lady at Canton, who had been unfortunately married to a coarse and stupid husband, was bewailing her life to a party of sisters and cousins and declared her intent on of committing suicide. On this, the other young ladies declared that since such was [illegible] life, they would die too, and so the whole bevy joined hands together, and deliberately walked into a fish pond and drowned themselves. Again, three men imprisoned in Hong Kong jail on a charge of piracy determined to make way with themselves rather than have the bother of a trial. At some height in the cell was a small window guarded by two iron bars, and the problem which these worthies had to solve, was how the three of them were to be hanged on the two bars. From the position in which they were found in the morning it would seem that the third man assisted the two others in hanging themselves from the bars by their tails, that then he cut down one of them by gnawing through the tail with his teeth, and using the dead body as a stool, to be afterwards kicked over, he had contrived to suspend himself. All this, too was done so quietly as not to attract the notice of a sentry who was pacing outside beneath the window.

"Can you do all sorts of casting here?" said a solemn looking chap at the iron works the other day. "Yes," said Frank, preparing to take his order. "Well, then," returned the solemn interrogator, "I would like to have you cast a shadow." He was cast out.

Doctors should dearly love our good mother Earth, for she kindly hides their evil work.

WEEKLY REVIEW

Portland, Friday, 2 P. M.,
Feb 8, 1867.

Our telegraphic news gives the price of gold in New York yesterday, 7th, at 138. It has been pretty steadily rising since our report of a week ago. The San Francisco rates for legal tenders was, yesterday, 73c buying, and 73¼c selling.

Our jobbing trade has been extremely dull for the week. Receipts of produce, in consequence of high water, have been very light. The steamers Oriflamme and Montana carried away the greater part of the produce which previous to the flood in the river had accumulated beyond the carrying capacity of the three steamers plying between this port and San Francisco. The river having fallen so as to admit of regular trips of the up-river boats produce will again come forward, and the Ajax upon her arrival will find a full cargo awaiting her. She may be expected on or about Wednesday the 13th. The principal items of produce by the steamers on the 7th foot up—flour 28 090 qr sacks, apples 3,429 boxes.

We quote Imperial flour 25c lower, and Harrisburg 50c lower. Dealers have not yielded anything on other brands though they must necessarily sympathise in the declining tendency. Messrs Savier & Co shipped per steamer Oriflamme 1 000 bbls of Imperial extra in gunnies, through Messrs Knapp Burrell & Co, consigned to Charles Dimon Esq, New York, to go via the Isthmus.

The market is glutted with butter, and though we quote Oregon solid at 25c and in brine at 30c @ 33c, these prices are merely nominal. Dealers are not willing to fix any price. We hear of one dealer who recently shipped a lot to San Francisco, but not meeting with a remunerative offer, he had it returned here where he offered it at 20c and then at 15c without finding a purchaser. Mill feed is dull and materially lower. Kerosene has declined 2½c for leading brands. Sugars are falling.

to call at his office and be at once restored. Surgical operations SKILFULLY performed on the EYES for film, cataract, strabismus or cross eyes.

Below are some of the many testimonials.

This is to certify that I John B Jodwan, was blind for over nine years, and I tried all means of a cure, and many doctors, and all of no effect, and I spent all the means I had. Finally, I had to become a county charge, and when I was taken to Dr G W Brown, and stated my case to him, and misfortune, he at once commenced to treat my eyes, and now I am well, and commend all those that are suffering with diseases of the eyes to call on Dr G W Brown. The reason why I do this is to let suffering humanity know where they can be cured. J B JODWAN

This is to certify that my daughter was almost blind for over seven years and was doctored by other physicians without obtaining any relief, when finally I took her to Dr G W Brown, who examined her case, and at once began to give her treatment, and her sight has been entirely restored. I do this to let those who are suffering with diseases of the eyes know where they can obtain a cure. It has been three years since her eyes were cured and they are yet sound.
THOMAS LIVINGSTON,
Deer Creek Precinct, Douglas county, Oregon

Salem July 21, 1866

This is to certify that I was blind for over four months and almost blind for one year and a half. I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit. I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr G W Brown, now of Salem. I was induced to try him; he performed a surgical operation on my eyes and gave me treatment. I soon began to recover, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I do this in justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and also for the benefit of those who are laboring under similar afflictions that they may know where they can get relief. It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good. I can see to read the finest print without difficulty, and my eyes can bear the strongest light without pain.

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast. He has determined to make the Bennett as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem. He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage.

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords.

His Bar room will be kept warmed and lighted and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort.

In short, he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE. And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs [illegible] successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of married life or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of the charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, or solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of affecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.
